Dear Mr. Castine:

Thank you for the copy of the 1927 BOHEMIAN, which I understand was presented to ~~Dr. Henry Nelson Snyder~~, by Elford C. Morgan and Henry J. Bennett, Jr., Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager, respectively.

It is kind of you to give this to the Archives. It will be a valuable addition to the file we have.

Hoping that you will visit the Archives when you are up this way, I am

Sincerely,

The ohemian

Being the Year Book of
Wofford College

Spartanburg,
South Carolina.
Vol. XX Anno Domini 1927

Dedication

Out of the darkness and din of feudalism—barbarism fighting against barbarism—emerged a great contribution, the concept of chivalry and the loyalty of man to man. In those days men helpless and in need sought shelter and protection—and pledged in return their allegiance and their devotion.

Today, possessed of that loyalty for a great leader and prompted by a devotion that has increased during the years of his chivalrous guidance, The "Bohemian" Staff and the Senior Class of '27 affectionately dedicate this "Bohemian" to a friend and guider of youth, and a Christian Southern Gentleman,

Dean Arthur Mason DuPre

F<sup>oreword</sup>

In this volume you will see the records of a college year—the chronicle of one more Senior Class. Through this volume runs the theme of feudalism which in a measure very aptly typifies that Class.

It was strong yet in its strength there was weakness. It served an age in keeping alive, to give to posterity, things which it could not perhaps appreciate and to which it could add little. If that class has not contributed much, yet it, too, has served at least to keep alive for those who are to follow the things which it perhaps could little appreciate.

Ages after, we turn with pleasure the pages that tell the tales of the merry old England of feudal days. In years to come, with a pleasure close akin, we and others will turn these pages that tell of old college days at Wofford.

Alma Mater

On the city's northern border,
Reared against the sky,
Proudly stands our Alma Mater,
As the years go by.

Chorus

May it ever be our watchword,
"Conquer and prevail."
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Dear old Wofford, Hail!

Cherished by thy sons forever,
Memories sweet will throng
Round our hearts, dear Alma Mater,
As we sing thy song.

When we from thy halls have parted,
And Life's battle is on,
Thy great spirit shall inspire us,
Till eternal dawn.

Senior Class Poem

*A loyal son and worthy will I be—
What eating lie can wreck the truth I learned?
What greater wealth than wisdom can be earned?
This, you have brought through gradual light to me.
On the testing road of life, after college years,
When trembling I meet the tasks that come my way,
Again and again, to you, I shall strive to pay
A debt that, as time advances, greater appears.
More clearly then I shall feel that you can be
Only repaid by a life of fidelity.
When maturity has ripened and fruited youth's plan,
I shall have time to think of these happy hours—
Like a boy I'll come, a reverent Wofford man,
For a twofold blessing from your faithful towers.*

ORANGEBURG, S. C.

Θ X Δ

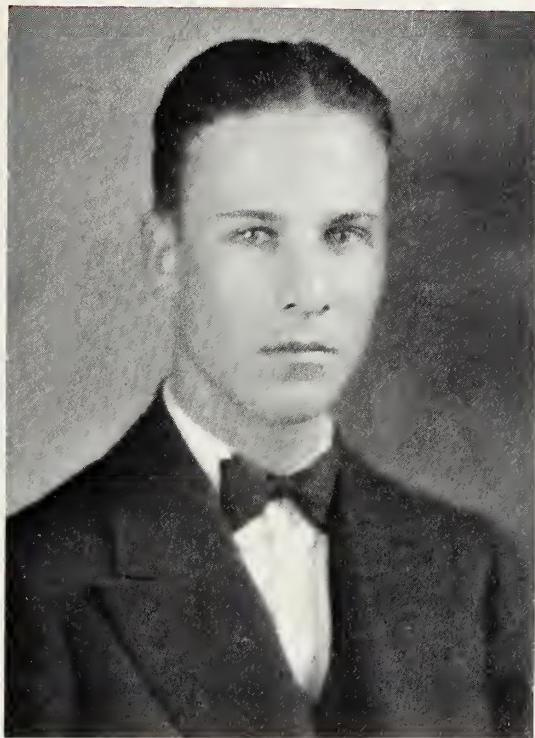

"June," as he is known to us, is another one of those lower state fellows who came to this part of the country to get his education. Whether he admits it or not, he is from Orangeburg. Nevertheless, we find in him quite an assuming dignity of the quality that makes men.

The four years that he has spent with us can indeed be counted successful ones. Although not an athlete, he has always been loyal to "Old Wofford" in everything pertaining to athletics. In the classroom he has made an excellent record; always faithful, unassuming, and conscientious.

To know why "June" has so many friends on the campus is to look into his cheerful disposition and magnetic personality.

Women—well, he has a different smile for every one. We don't know its secret, but we think some "bewitching charm" causes his popularity with them. "The make of his car is a Ford."

In "June" we are parting with a true friend, whose presence will be missed. However, his qualities make us believe that life is full of treasures for him. And sometime in the month of June—well, "June" says so.

"Pete," as he is known to most of us, came to Wofford with one great asset, among the many that he possesses, and that was youth. He is the youngest member of the Senior class. However, he carries his age well, and many has been the time that he has put older heads to shame.

It is no fault of his that the old adage, "Preacher's sons are always the worst kind," concerns him, but it is to his credit that he is one of the exceptions to this rule.

Possessing a natural quickness and ability to grasp facts, his college career has been easier than most of us find it. His ability as a tennis player has made itself felt on many occasions, and we dare add that only his lack of weight was his handicap in other sports.

His innocent expression and indifference have been the destruction of many hearts—but he dared not halt by the wayside. Thus we can say that he is destined for greater fields of endeavor. We have no doubt that "Who's Who" will soon contain the name of this son of Wofford.

A thinker, a worker, a Christian, a friend: In these words you have Henry. They mean much and to be worthy of them one must have an extraordinary character. Henry merits each separately and all collectively. He is indeed one among many! The above honors speak louder than any words of praise we can give him here. He needs no eulogy; he has proven himself greater than our words can express.

EDWIN PHILLIPS CARROLL

CHARLESTON, S. C.

P.K.F.

We would have to search a long time to find a better or more capable man than "Ed." He hails from the sea coast of South Carolina, and is very proud to call Charleston his home.

"Ed" has never taken any great part in athletics, but he is often thought of as "The Wofford Golfer."

The major part of his time has been taken up with his studies, but the time has not been wasted. At times he has shown great mental energy and ability in the classroom. He has always been admired by his professors and fellow-students.

"Ed" has devoted his leisure time to association with the fair sex. He has a place in his heart for them that cannot be filled by anything else.

Goodbye, "Ed." May God bless you and give you the best of luck in whatever profession you may choose. We feel sure that you will succeed. It is with a feeling of regret that the Class of '27 bids you farewell.

TURBEVILLE, S. C.

X B Φ

Somewhere on the map of South Carolina there lies the "city" of Turbeville. We do not know just where this noted place is, but it has made a valuable contribution to Wofford in sending such a man as "W. J."

He has not participated in any form of athletics, but Wofford has not a more enthusiastic supporter than this lad from the "Sandhills." He has a cheerful word for every member of his team, even when the worst comes.

During his first two years with us "W. J." lived quite a reserved and studious life. The fair sex seemed to hold little attraction for him. At first this was hard to understand, but finally the secret leaked out. What? Yes, all his thoughts and attractions were centered back home. We do not know exactly who "she" was, but rumor has it that she has vanished—probably to pine away of a broken heart.

"W. J." in saying farewell to you, remember that each one of your classmates holds true esteem and affection for you. Each gives you his best wishes for a successful career.

OSCAR VERNON CLEMENT

SPARTANBURG, S. C.

Since "O. V." graduated from the fitting school, he has shown what can be accomplished by hard and constant work. Despite the fact that he has worked in the afternoons of his entire college career, he has made a record that surpasses those of many students who have all their time for college work. He has a claim to something very few have accomplished—he rode "Knotty" more than "Knotty" rode him.

Clement has made many friends while at college, among them a good portion of the fair sex. When he has his degree conferred on him in June, and sees how it is done, we think he will be ready to confer it on someone else.

"O. V." is a dignified, steady-going chap that would prove worthy of any senior class. He is the type of progressive individual who is bound to succeed at anything he undertakes.

We of the Senior Class hope and believe that he will keep up his high standards of work and morals, and thus make Wofford and Spartanburg proud of him.

We have in "Monty" a lad of unusual abilities. In the classroom he excels with no apparent effort. The fact that he is assistant instructor in the Biology Laboratory is ample recognition of talents.

On the baseball diamond "Monty" has represented Wofford very creditably. He has always been a staunch supporter of his Alma Mater; and we believe that G. W. C. has a warm place in his heart.

It is impossible to be associated with him without feeling the strength of his pleasing personality.

"Bill" has made many friends, both on the campus and in town. Whenever the telephone at Snyder Hall rings, you can always hear: "Bill Crouch! Telephone!" This proves his popularity with the fairer sex.

In "Bill's" four years at Wofford, he has been a loyal supporter of the Old Gold and Black. He won a block his first year out for track. Then "Bill's" senior year found him on the football field, where he worked hard.

Besides being a lover of athletics, he has other very fine traits. He makes a very good student, being one of the select few in the mineralogy class.

The gods have indeed been generous in their bestowal of gifts upon this boy, for in Frank we find a combination of worthy and admirable traits. These traits combine to make of Frank a person liked by all who know him. His true friends are a host, while his enemies don't exist.

"Pee Wee's" campus activities have been wide and varied. A member of the baseball team and manager of football speak for his athletic record. He is a born orator and a student that of late has made professors chalk up a line of good marks.

Frank, a more promising man than you, we know not; truer friend, we have none. We hate to see you go but since you must—God speed, and may the best always be yours.

In "Bill," the Class of '27 has a man of whom she is justly proud. For his four years at Wofford, his wit and humor have been some of his outstanding characteristics. With his ever-pleasing personality and his unswerving adherence to noble standards, he has won life-long friendships among those with whom he has been associated.

"Bill" is considered one of the greatest literary creators who has ever attended Wofford. His love of fiction and his productions of romance display his creative power and originality. Also in his narratives he has shown broadness of vision and sense of realistic values. Never have his flowing, ornate creations lacked force, breadth, or philosophical insight.

He has won the love and admiration of the perfidious yet irresistible feminine sex, and, without doubt, in the future he will "live happily ever after."

In parting we wish you well, "Bill," and whatever you shall attempt we have the utmost confidence that you will succeed.

Because he did not pour forth volumes of conversation, "Ziggie" was at first considered reserved in nature and seriously dignified. But soon his keen cuts of wit and sharp humor made him an outstanding character of our class. Roy's humor is not gushing and he never bores us with his originality. His is so naive and subtle that when Ziggie talks—all listen.

All the factors of Ziggie's make-up combine to make him a man worth knowing. He is endowed with a personality to attract, and a character rich enough to hold. In Roy, the finest traits are clear cut and his thoughts run as straight and high as his physical self. Unprejudiced and unbiased, he decides everything, using the law of sincerity to others and to principle as his one great rule.

Governed by such an unselfish rule of life and possessing a sense of humor that makes him capable of understanding life's little tragedies and of filling each idle moment with warm laughter, Roy cannot help but be a happy man.

"Happy" came to Wofford in 1922 to begin his college course. Although he is full of fun, he never lets this interfere with his school work.

We were unfortunate in not having him with us his third year, because he decided to make a librarian at the Tampa library. However, after nearly a year's work, he realized that it was more essential to finish college, and returned to Wofford with a determination to stick.

During his long vacation, the wanderlust bug bit him. He and a friend became duly initiated into that famous organization, "Knights of the Road," by taking a hobo trip to the Kansas wheat fields. When he got back, "Hap" could tell more lies in five minutes than most people can in an hour.

"Happy" has certainly contributed much to the credit of his class. We hate to see him leave, but feel sure there is something waiting for him in the world, where his willing mind, moral character, and splendid training can be put to much advantage.

Time quickly blots from mind the memory of names and faces; but Horace, by his unusual personality, has made an indelible impression upon his classmates that will remain long after the old bell has called the last laggard to the classroom.

Horace enjoys an unusually good disposition, and during his college career we have never heard him complain. But for all that, he is human and is always willing to help the other fellow. He has not only the ability to make friends, but also to keep them.

Cupid has been shooting at Horace, but has found his heart impenetrable because of his earnest devotion to his studies. Now, however, the goal of college life has been reached, and it is reported that an arrow has hit the mark.

Horace, old man, you are answering the call, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel," and we feel sure you will be a great success.

In September, 1926, after eighteen years out of school, Reverend Griffin assayed to join the ranks of the Class of '27 at Wofford. During this year he has filled his place behind the sacred desk with fervent zeal, along with his college work.

Over eighteen years ago, Reverend Griffin attended Mercer University for three years. He was an outstanding figure in all the activities of that institution. He was at that time, as he is today, noted for his oratory.

"Preacher" has been a chaplain in the reserve corps of the U. S. Army for a number of years, and has served faithfully in Y. M. C. A. work. The faithful performance of his duties both as student and as pastor has ever evoked the favorable criticism of his fellow students and parishioners. His clear and sympathetic perception attests virtues and bears the fruits of decisive character.

Reverend Griffin is a member of many noted organizations, such as the Knights Templar, Shriners, Knights of Constantine, and is a thirty-second degree Mason.

We know from his past that success is his. We shall cherish the dearest memories of him, and know that we have been blessed by his association.

"Red" came to Wofford four years ago from Spartanburg High School with a record of scholarship and athletics that would make any boy proud. Since being with us, he has won letters in football, basketball and baseball. Last year Red piloted Wofford's first state championship basketball team. This year his great floor work and accurate goal shooting were thorns in the side of every opponent.

Elmer is more level-headed and reserved than most fellows. He believes in playing the game fair and by the rules. His example of being dutiful in all things can be profitably followed by those of us who are inclined to neglect the small.

Red is popular among the boys because of his athletic ability, his friendly smile, and his willingness to be a friend.

During his four years' sojourn at Wofford, Charlie has made a most laudable record, both in scholarship and in student activities. In his studies Charlie excelled especially in mathematics and military science. In student activities he has held offices of high rank, among which were the presidency of Snyder Literary Society and the vice-presidency of the Sesostrian Club.

Although Charlie is very popular with the fair sex in "The Hub City," we think his love and affection is centered around a certain young lady who resides about twelve miles west of Columbia.

Just two years ago, in his search for a college worthy of the man, Harris was fortunate enough to discover Wofford. Subsequent events have shown the choice was wisely made; and now this deep-thinking scholar is departing from us with his highly prized Bachelor of Arts degree, for which he has striven.

While at Wofford, Harris has been an efficient student, and has forged steadily along in his endeavors. Besides, he has participated in athletics, having been a member of the football and track teams.

Even though this Alabamian may seem a bit too serious at times, we have realized his sterling worth as he propounded his thoughts to us in "Bull Sessions." We have recognized also that "Colonel" is in no danger of becoming a fossil. He derives entirely too much pleasure from wearing a derby and sporting a cane for that to happen. Besides, his close companion, a pipe filled with "P. A.," will keep his disposition mellowed.

We greatly regret having to part with him, but we wish for him much success and genuine pleasure in his future life.

"Charlie" came to us with an excellent record from Spartanburg High, and before many months had passed we knew that he was one of the ablest of the class. The consistent manner in which he goes about his work proves that he is a man of determination and character. Besides a good student and a loyal supporter of all college activities, Charlie has a business ability that gives him a lead of several miles on the road to success.

We would like to give you some idea as to the size of his heart, but we cannot conceive of an object big enough to offer in comparison. Whenever he can help a fellow student, he is always ready, willing and eager.

His quiet, sincere and gentlemanly manner has made an impression upon our affections that cannot be erased. His association makes friends; his personality and character hold them.

Charlie, our farewell carries with it the hope that your life will be more than full of success, usefulness and unbounded happiness.

George came to us four years ago from Ravenel, S. C.—the “cabbage country.” However, if asked where he is from, “Charleston” is his reply. Anyway, he’s a jolly good fellow, just the same.

George has taken an active part in athletics. He showed up well in his freshman and sophomore years, but for various reasons was unable to participate further until his fourth year. This year he has supported his team loyally by his hard and earnest work on the gridiron.

Ladies? Indeed, that’s where he shines. He is not exactly a sheik—neither is he bashful—but inwardly he is a lover of the gentler sex. No telling how many are the lassies he has met, or how many broken hearts he has left behind.

In saying a few words about Moody we wish to be simple. We want to be generous in our praise, but not extravagant. Such, we know, would be his desire.

When his country called him he responded as nobly as did Morgan's men of 1781. Force of circumstances kept him from immediately entering college again at the close of the great conflict; but during the time he was not idle. When he again turned his face toward the towers of Wofford, he held not the views of a high school boy, but those of a man.

Some day Moody will preach a simple gospel. He will "paint the cot as Truth will paint it, and as bards will not." The only epitaph he craves is: "Here lies a man."

To Moody we say good-bye. Wofford is proud to send him into the world.

The elements are so mixed in this young man that it is quite difficult to depict in black and white his character, personality and ability. However there is a word, which, if taken in the broadest sense fits Wilbur exactly; it is the word "man." What more need be said.

The various activities of the campus in which he is engaged prove the versatility of his abilities. On the football field there are no harder workers, and few better guards. As manager of "The State's Sweetest Singers," he was a success; and his scholastic record is of the best.

With such cold judgment, high ideals, and splendid ability we know he will be a success in the true sense of the word.

"Bill" is the boy who came to Wofford in a Ford coupe from Lancaster, four years ago. Since that time he has grown into the prime of manhood, with high ideals and chuck full of ambitions. The Ford coupe has not fared so well, however. I wonder if the dean has a record of all the trips it has taken?

"Bill" is a sportsman, and has a great fondness for his dog and gun. He is a good shot, too, and sometimes uses Cupid's darts instead of his gun. Be that as it may, we prophesy that if he is as lucky in his life work as he has been with his gun and dart, he will surely reach his goal.

"Bill" is a big-hearted fellow and has won many loyal friends with his ready smile and sharp wit. We are pained to have reached "the parting of the ways," but wish him the best of luck as he goes forward on life's highway.

There are some who claim that, by all precedents, genius is erratic, but after four years' association with this distinguished denizen of Spartanburg, we are firm believers that there is an exception to this rule. Craig is a genius in intellectual lines, and has proved to be an all-round man.

Craig has proven to be one of the most ardent admirers of the fair sex on the campus. Certainly he is a frequenter of Converse's halls, not to mention the fact that he is known to every girl in Spartanburg county.

Although Craig played creditable football two years, his greatest athletic prowess has been demonstrated on the basketball court. He has proven to be a very aggressive guard, bringing glory to Wofford.

We know that fame, fortune—success in amorous affairs—are in store for Craig. A man of his genuine ability and character is sure to attain success.

So closely bound together are the two colleges that no Wofford student is accurately catalogued until his Converse record is known. "Ted" might be considered a graduate of both institutions. But one striking characteristic which sets him apart is his constancy in love.

Not a cynic, but never too enthusiastic; not a recluse, but never too approachable; not an artist, but always appreciative of the beautiful; he combines within himself those rare gifts of a brilliant mind and freedom from the shackles of public opinion. It is not possible to portray in the few sentences allotted, the attainments, character and worth of this man.

We can remember when he came to Wofford, an insignificant, green freshman from a country town; with little promise and no connection. He even had difficulty in securing a uniform for Freshman football. We shall not forget that he became captain of the varsity eleven of '26-'27, and attained high distinction in the class room. On the athletic field and on the campus, from the students of seven classes he has made many life-long friends. They have bestowed their favors and responsibilities upon him and have received the benefits of his wise leadership.

A whole student body unites to say "good-bye and good luck," "Firpo." Maybe we are mistaken, but we believe there is an equally tender if less outspoken echo from the "Y's and Other Y's."

There are a few on every campus to whom is delegated the task of being the leaders in every forward movement. Among this group the name of Lee has forged its path. Every attempt has marked a mile-stone in his advance.

He is a man: Sincere in his beliefs, firm in his convictions, courageous in his actions, and dependable in his duties. With such characteristics we can rest assured that his college life will be only the foundation for his success in life.

"Countrymen! Lend me your ears." I would like, in a feeble way, to expound the virtues of a right noble son of Wofford; none other than Lowry himself. A man of sterling character, supreme social ability and one who possesses the true qualities of leadership. At basketball "Styx" is a whiz, while with a tennis racquet he is a dangerous foe. Besides this he is a marvel in the classroom. If proof is needed, ask the faculty.

Styx is a true friend and we have all profited by knowing him. If in the years to come he should continue to reside in Spartanburg, we are confident that he will be a substantial spoke in the "Hub of the Southeast."

Parting is hard, but do it we must, and in the doing we wish only for Styx a continuation of the good work he has done so far.

HAROLD LOONEY

IRMO, S. C.

Irmo, should be justly proud of having at Wofford such a noble son. Harold has always been a loyal supporter of the Old Gold and Black. Although he has never taken an active part in athletics, he was always in his place in the grandstand rooting for the Terriers.

"Hack" has won many friends on the campus during his four years at Wofford. One fault, however, has been found by many. His watch was never right, because the bell never rang at the right time. He always rang it just two minutes before the Ethics or Psychology periods were up.

To know Harold is to admire him. His true friendliness and loyalty to all his fellow-students have placed him high in the esteem of those who know him. The Class of '27 hates to give him up, but we know the world needs men like him.

Those of us that have been associated with Joe have learned to love and respect him, because we know he is a true and sincere friend.

Joe is going to continue his studies at a university. We know that he will do well, because as a Bible and R. E. "shark" he has few equals.

SPARTANBURG, S. C.

Just another product of the famous Class of '23 of Spartan High. He is known all over the campus as the bright and shining light of the classroom, due to the external appearance of his cranium. However, there may be other than physical factors to account for the above statement.

As a student “Red” has not been able to attain the standards required by the famous Golden Key brotherhood, but he has made some enviable records. Among these was his ability to erase physics from his catalogue in one year and being admitted into the second heaven—Uncle Dan’s Mineralogy Club.

“Red” is no sheik or apostle of Rudolph Valentino, but we must not infer from the above statement that love affairs occupy no part in his make-up. He is very silent on this question as on all others. But we have reason to believe that he is very fondly attached.

“Red’s” accomplishment at old Wofford of which he is most proud is the fine feeling that he has acted on the square with all his friends.

Good luck to you in the big game ahead.

Believing from the first in the superiority of mind over matter, Melvin has spent his four years at Wofford enlarging the small nucleus of intellect that was his only asset in his freshman year. Believing also that travel was an education in itself, Melvin has journeyed over the country extensively. It is said that he knows every freight train brakeman by his nickname, and is completely posted on all freight schedules of all systems.

But with June Melvin lays aside his college life forever, and enters the hard and rough life of the world. And we know this world will yield him her treasures of whatever he may desire—respect, fame, or fortune. He will be missed on Wofford's campus, but he carries with him the hearty good wishes of all the sons of Wofford.

Four years ago the little town of McColl sent us a lad who will some day make her famous. One has only to look through the pages of THE BOHEMIAN to see that our art editor is an artist of unusual talent.

We have only to look at the countenance above, fairly beaming with unfathomable intelligence, to know that "Charlie" has passed all expectations. We know of no one possessed of a greater knack of "shooting" the professors.

"Charlie" has proved himself to be a veritable master of the purely masculine art—the conquest of the feminine heart. He has gladdened the halls at classic Converse many times, and it is rumored that he has not slighted the girls at Lander either.

We who have known "Charlie" for four years count his friendship, and the mere fact of having known him, as invaluable. He is our idea of a true Southern gentleman. His Alma Mater is sure to be proud of him, for with his unlimited capabilities and splendid character, he is bound to succeed in whatever he may undertake.

"Bim" is finishing with his share of honors, also. As chief cheer leader he has shown himself capable to lead the "spirits" of the student body. In his two years on THE BOHEMIAN staff he has contributed much in "wit and wise cracks" to the feature section.

Knowing that he possesses all the traits essential to success in any field, combined with his true moral fibre, we can predict a glorious career for him.

It seems almost a sacrilege for a mere novice to attempt to wield the quill against one so well-versed in his art. Without a doubt no member of the Senior Class is so gifted with the flow of flowery syllables, original and significant, as our friend, Ralph. He is especially prolific in manifesting this coveted skill in his dealings with the Daughters of Eve. Needless to say, it always produces the desired effect, and this fact lends to his complete success as a gentle and enthusiastic admirer of the fair sex. Look at this pleasing countenance, think of his eloquent phrases copiously emitting from an inexhaustible vocabulary, and add to this his attractive personality and you can easily understand the reason for his being the final authority on "Love's Philosophy."

Of the deepest significance is the remarkable appropriateness of his pious life to fulfill its mission of helping to advance the kingdom of God. Our aim is to show the complete harmony existing herein, and thus proclaim his worthiness to enter this high and noble career of preaching the gospel.

The fact that this young lad was born and reared in the sand-hills of Lexington county is by no means a handicap to him. We gaze at him and say, "There is a man."

"F. B." is true in all he does. His word is his bond, and those who know him best ask no other security. His smile of gentle and sweet nature reveals to us his personality. His talent of common sense and charm of personality have made for him many friends. He is a true gentleman—hopeful, pleasant, generous, and kind. Although possessed of a serious nature at times, a cheerful disposition is one of his greatest assets. His winning ways are sure to bring him friends and happiness in life.

Don't think just because he has auburn hair that he is all temper—no, no. He is sunshine personified. Pep, snap, wit, and all these are only a small beginning of the good traits we can attribute to George. Greatest of all is his talent for poetry.

George is universally liked among the boys, and is a true and sincere friend to everyone. He is an athlete, making his "W" in basketball. George is also a favorite with all the girls. It's hard for the fairer sex to resist his winsome way. He is always happy, no matter what happens.

To possess greater ambition or higher ideals than he does is impossible. Day in and day out he has met every obligation and duty with a determination to succeed. Quietly, unassumingly, without pretense, without display, he has made his way into the hearts of his classmates and the faculty.

In the fall of 1919, Wofford Fitting School sent us one of her most promising men. Lloyd stayed at Wofford for two years and later returned in 1925.

At the time Lloyd entered this institution he began to make friends, and today his friends are those that know him. His loyalty to them in its intensity has reached the point of genuine chivalry.

Lloyd possesses a rare union of qualities. He is active but calm; earnest, wise, simple and modest; witty, but never in derision; kind and gentle, yet courageous; fair and entirely true. His life was rounded by kindness and love to his fellow-students. "Ed," while not sharing all the benefits of dormitory life, has filled four years of college life with much success. Due to the fact that he resides in Spartanburg, much of his time has been occupied with things outside of college life. But still he is known throughout the campus as a man of many talents, and one who knows how to use them to the best advantage.

Wofford is not the only college which he attends regularly, as all who are familiar with East Main Street know. Due to this divided interest he has had to refrain from wearing any headgear, since he could not afford to show partiality to either a senior cap or a derby. We believe, however, that this is merely out of courtesy to the fairer sex.

Possessing a friendly nature, a tendency to fulfill all obligations, and a habit of helping others, he should find no trouble in making his way in life. He closes his college career as a student capable in every phase, and possessing the qualities of an all-round man.

We wish him the best of success and happiness, and are sorry that we will be deprived of his presence on the campus after this year.

Known to us all as "Sparkie," this young man has taken his place as one of the leaders of his class. His versatile ability, high character, and congenial disposition have won for him a host of friends.

He seems to be gifted in everything he undertakes. As a member of the cross-country team he greatly distinguished himself.

"Sparkie," it has been a privilege for us to have known you, as a classmate and as a friend. In whatever field you make your attempt, you carry the heartiest wishes of your class.

ROBERT CHARLES WEST

UNION, S. C.

"King Tut" West is not the type of man who seeks fame, but quietly goes about doing his duty and is always willing to help anyone who may be in need.

Notwithstanding his quiet and unassuming ways, he possesses high personal dignity. Beneath this calmness is that depth and solidity of character which commands the faith and respect of all who come in contact with him.

Those who know him best know that he is firm in his convictions, wise and practical in his views, open, frank, sincere, and trustworthy. These characteristics combined go to make a true man and a coveted personality.

During his four years at Wofford, "King Tut" has made a very enviable scholastic record, especially in mathematics. By his ability, he has won the admiration of the faculty and every member of his class.

We do not know to what field of endeavor he will direct his attention, but whatever it may be, if he is as faithful in performing its duties as he has been in performing the duties of a student, the great scorer will say, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

In "Sam" we find the characteristics of true greatness, which find expression in qualities of genius, kindness, and integrity. He is the embodiment of dignity and all that bespeaks of perfect gentleman.

His modesty is worthy of wide imitation, and he has the highest ideals of fine, clean manhood. Profoundly significant is his deep-seated instinct for fair play, his shrewdness of perception, and his cordial good will to all men.

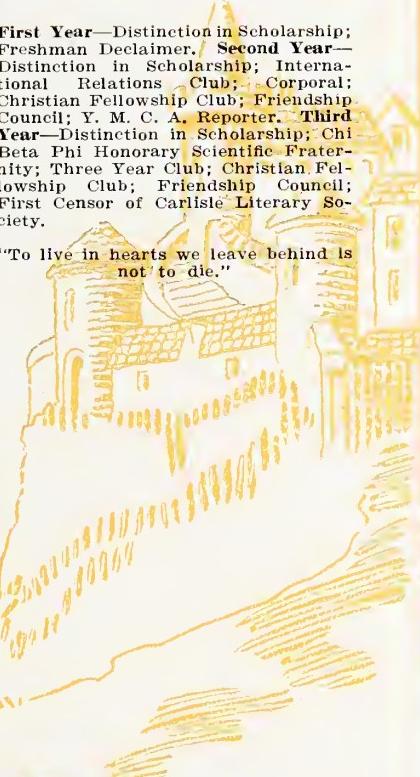

After completing the sophomore year, "Sam" joined the ranks of those who strive in the art of pedagogy. Here his natural ability, together with study and thought, won for him the same success and esteem that have ever been his. We were very happy to welcome him back, and rejoice to know that he has bridged the gap of a year in order to finish with his old classmates.

When college days are over and the tasks of life are before him, we know that "Sam" will conquer them as he did "Clink" and "Knotty."

"Sam," ole boy, here's to you.

"Corn" came to us from the mountains of Tennessee, bringing the high ideals of that gradually diminishing group of true Americans. Many obstacles have threatened to deprive him of a college education, but he has conquered them all in a way that demands our admiration.

His ambition is to become a lawyer. We can predict great success for him in this chosen line, as he has shown by his debating and oratorical ability that he has wonderful possibilities.

Here we behold a scholar, an athlete, a military genius, and a gentleman—in short, a well-rounded man broad in his sympathies. "Gus" has proved himself a great scholar, and always possessed the faculty of "shooting" the professors for I's.

He is well known in baseball circles and has brought much glory to his Alma Mater. We merely mention the fact that he was captain of the 1927 baseball team.

We hear that he has been decidedly successful in his conquest of the feminine heart, also.

We have no fear for what the future holds in store for "Gus." A man with his personality and upright character is sure to achieve great success.

JOHN HAROLD WOLFE
A.B.

ROEBUCK, S. C.

Harold, or Wolfe, as we commonly call him, hails from the thriving metropolis of Roebuck, the town that has furnished Wofford with some of her best scholars. He came to Wofford from the Fitting School, where he made such a fine record that he won, as first honor man, the scholarship to Wofford. Wolfe has continued to demonstrate his intellectual ability while at college. This is shown by his ability to pursue so successfully all the courses offered by the head of the Department of History and Economics, which have been the sources of much trouble to many aspiring young intelligentia. It is charged that Harold has never "flunked on a subject," and this does not except even Professor Pettis' Physics.

We that know Harold have learned to love and respect him for his fine gentlemanly and Christian qualities.

We wish you the greatest success and happiness in your life's work, whatever it may be.

Senior Class History

N September 14, 1923, the assemblage of one hundred and fifty new men on Wofford campus, marked the beginning of the Class of '27. Now we are about to realize that the goal toward which we set is within our reach. As we stand at the close of a great chapter in our lives, memories carry us back to many pleasant reminiscences that cluster about the years that we have spent on dear old Wofford campus.

With our introduction to college life came many new customs with which we were unfamiliar. We found others who were anxious to show us the way, and it was only a short time before we were "finding out." In freshman athletics, scholarship, and forensics we made enviable records for our class and for our Alma Mater.

Our officers for the first year were:

E. D. LAW . . . . .	President
F. A. DEAN . . . . .	Vice-President
W. N. SWETT . . . . .	Secretary
H. J. BENNETT . . . . .	Treasurer
W. J. MCLEOD . . . . .	Historian

After a short summer vacation, we returned to college proudly calling ourselves Sophomores. Though our class had diminished in quantity, it had increased in quality; wiser after having experienced the "rat" life which comes but once in a life-time.

We chose as our guiding lights for the Sophomore year:

H. J. BENNETT . . . . .	President
F. E. EXUM . . . . .	Vice-President
G. C. HILL . . . . .	Secretary
G. L. VARN . . . . .	Treasurer
J. A. MCCAIN . . . . .	Historian

Our second year's activities made for us a name that we shall never forget. The varsity football, basketball, and baseball teams were largely made up of Sophomores. In scholarship and forensics our record could hardly be excelled.

In the fall of 1925 we reunited again as Juniors, now the proud wearers of much-coveted rings bearing the inscription, "Intaminatis Fulget Honoribus." We settled down, realizing the seriousness of our life's work ahead of us, each selecting the course of study that would best fit him for his chosen vocation.

Our Junior Class officers were:

J. H. ORVIN . . . . .	President
D. W. LAWTON . . . . .	Vice-President
C. M. LEE . . . . .	Secretary
J. A. MCCAIN . . . . .	Treasurer
E. C. MORGAN . . . . .	Historian

As the third year drew to a close we found ourselves on the last stretch which lay before us. Our time had been profitably spent; our athletic teams, composed largely of members of our class, made the name of our Alma Mater known far and wide. Our class contributed her share in the many forensic activities on and off the campus.

On September 17, 1926, we came to begin the last lap toward the goal for which we have so earnestly sought for four short years. To guide us over the final stretch we elected:

J. C. WILLIAMS . . . . .	President
C. M. LEE . . . . .	Vice-President
G. L. VARN . . . . .	Secretary
C. C. MOORE . . . . .	Treasurer
E. C. MORGAN . . . . .	Poet
S. B. MOSELEY . . . . .	Prophet
G. T. MOODY . . . . .	Historian

Doubtless never before nor since has a class been so fully represented in the many phases of college activity as has the Class of '27. Our class representatives have played an important part in the many achievements which the college has made during our sojourn here.

The Senior Class scholastic record has been an enviable one. In athletics the Senior Class representatives have played an important part in the achievements made by the many teams this year.

In football, Lawton, Dean, Hill, Latimer, Hutchinson, Rushton, Habel, Hook, Crouch, and Exum as manager, represented the Senior Class in no mean manner. The basketball team for three years has been made up largely of 1927 men. During their junior year, Habel, Kennedy, Lindsay, and Staples were instrumental in Wofford's winning the state basketball title.

In baseball, the Senior Class had Willis, Exum, Courtney, Swett, Habel, Beckham, Latimer, and Lawton as manager.

In track and cross-country we had Hutchinson, Maw, and Crouch; in tennis, Lindsay. M. W. Hook served as manager of the Glee Club.

H. J. Bennett, of our class, represented the college in the state oratorical contest in his junior year.

Classmates, we are about to depart from these sacred classrooms forever, and soon we shall tread these campus walks no more. For four years we have tried to live our lives in such a way as to be an inspiration to those who come after us.

So, as we depart, let us resolve, one and all, that the spirit of union for a greater Wofford shall never die.

G. T. MOODY, JR., Historian.

Senior Class Prophecy

AFEW days before Thanksgiving, in the fall of 1954, I received a letter from the Alumni Secretary stating that my old Alma Mater was planning to celebrate her one hundredth anniversary, and that all "ole grads" would be welcome. It seemed hardly possible that it had been twenty-seven years since our class had graduated, so I decided to take a holiday and attend. Glancing over the letter to make sure of the date, I noticed that it was signed by one of my old classmates, Walter Guy. This pleasant surprise brought a desire to know how the other members of the class had fared, and I decided that it would be worth the trip to get news of them, if nothing else. Naturally, I had not lost track of all of them, but of some I had heard very little. I knew, of course, that one of the features of the celebration was the dedication of a new hundred thousand dollar gymnasium given by John Law. I knew also that Rivers McCall was head of the English Department, and that Coach "Firpo" Lawton's Terriers were slated to beat Carolina at Thanksgiving. It was old news that "Ted" Law had acquired a wife and family and was enjoying a prosperous business career as chief assistant to J. A. Switzer, Inc. It was generally known that "Buck" Swett had amassed a fortune on the stock exchange and would soon retire; that the partnership of Courtney and Varn, formed while in college, was still intact and doing well in the wholesale grocery business; and that Templeton was now a junior partner of Montgomery & Crawford, Inc.

Arriving at Spartanburg, I was met by a delegation of alumni. Two of them were members of the Class of '27. Harold Looney and Felix McCracken, both of whom were located in Spartanburg. I was escorted to the dormitory by my old classmate and given a room. Later I found that my roommate for the occasion was Jim Latimer. Jim, it seemed, was the "big dog" down in Honea Path, being mayor. As we were talking over old times, who should come in but Judge Frank E. Exum? Frank told us that he had just held a session of court down in Cowpens. There District Attorney Moody Henry prosecuted a bootlegger, who was defended by John Pettitt.

We held a class meeting, presided over by our senior president, "Corn" Williams, who told us that he was running a model farm up in Eastern Tennessee. When the roll was called there were several members absent, and the president asked if anyone could give some information as to the absent ones. Melvin Medlock, it was said, was in New York editing the American Mercury. George Moody, it seemed, was in Chicago in the advertising business. Henry Bennett, the presiding elder, along with H. D. Inabnet, R. M. Sharpe, and H. E. Gravely, could not attend on account of a conflicting conference. Major J. S. Ashe and Major Charlie Harmon, who were on duty in the Philippines, were also absent. "Happy" Gay had come up for the celebration from Florida, where he is a big citrus grower. Craig Kennedy was not a detective, but a superintendent of the city school. Elford Morgan, I learned, was business manager for the Spartanburg Journal. Griffin was president of the Theological Seminary in Atlanta, and Joe Henry Maw taught there also. After the meeting some of the fellows sauntered up Church Street to take up their old position in front of the Elite. While standing there I learned some very interesting facts concerning my old classmates. Maxie Hook had organized a number of high class jazz orchestras, which were very popular. Ed Tennent was general purchasing agent for the Consolidated Mills, taking this position after his father's retirement. P. A. Rushton was a lawyer of no mean ability, while Taylor was head of the State Highway Commission. I looked across the street, and where "Price" had once been, now stood "Dean." I learned later that Francis had just been a partner and later had bought out the business. I went over to see Francis and found him in conference with Neeley, who was district manager for "Real Silk" products. While there, White, who is a Professor of Psychology at Furman, came in to make some purchases, and we four had quite a chat. Bill Hough and Charlie Moore, White told us, were located in Greenville, Bill in the drug business and Charlie manager of a mill. We heard a great noise in the street, and all of us rushed to the door. The student body was parading prior to a "pep" meeting to prepare for the victory on the morrow. We joyously joined in the crowd that surged toward the campus. I met more of the old members of '27: Clarence Lee, now engaged in politics; "Pete" Beckham, a banker, and Jim Grimes, rapidly gaining acknowledgments as an author. More handshakes, more smiles, more reminiscences, more news. Pete knew that Ed Carrol was steadily winning fame in professional golf circles, having recently won the British open tournament. He also told us that F. B. Smith was pastor of his home town church and that McAbee was a doctor. Clarence Lee had news of Powell, who was a mining engineer. John Sloan, a college professor, and T. W. Edwards, district manager for an insurance company. Jim Grimes told us how fate had treated Clement, Wolfe, and King. "Clement," he said, "is cashier in the First National Bank; Wolfe, manager for a paving concern, and King a successful farmer." I had been shown Red Habel's automobile business earlier in the afternoon. At the meeting several old football players made short talks and enthusiasm ran high. I ran across O. L. Harmon and Bill Crouch. Harmon was an eye specialist, practicing in Charlotte, and Bill had entered the brokerage business. When the meeting broke up, with many cheers and much prophesying, I saw Hembree, Jim Sweet, and Gash leaving. I hailed them, and in the course of the conversation that followed I discovered that Hembree had embarked on a teaching career. Jim had an executive position with the Commercial Credit Company, and Roy Gash had decided after leaving Wofford to do graduate work in chemistry and was now employed by the V-C Fertilizer Corporation. Castine, after the resignation of J. K. Davis, had been appointed treasurer of the college. In the spring, Gus Willis was to begin his tenth year with the New York Giants as third baseman. Staples was manager for the Southern Bell Telephone Company at Spartanburg. "Hutch" Hutchinson, holder of the world record for the three-mile run, was coaching at Harvard. West had written several scientific books and was at present teaching and doing research work. Harris and Felder were both lawyers and interested in national politics, Felder thinking of running for the United States senate.

The day of the game dawned bright and crisp, an ideal day for football. The Wofford men were all supplied transportation to the fair grounds in Hart Taxicabs, a taxicab company owned by Hart. The game was very much a success, Wofford emerging with the long end of the score and, at the same time, the state championship.

I returned home the following day, feeling well repaid for the trip, having seen so many of my old friends and having regained the spirit of good fellowship.

Junior Class History

JHE "Best Class" made its entrance into old Wofford in September, 1924, with the strange combination of doubtful misgivings and high ambitions and ideals. A few days sufficed to destroy all our fear and to strengthen and build up our ambitions. If our records are consulted, it will be found that our ambitions were not idle dreams, but have matured and ripened into sweet realities.

In the frighthened and awed assemblage of "Green Boys" that came in 1924 to tread Wofford campus with uncertain and cautious steps, there were disguised a large number of athletes, orators, debaters, singers, and literary men. Three years have sufficed to remove the green masks and our members now stand out with a three-year record to show the material of which they are made. On the athletic field our men have struggled with the best and been duly victorious, while others have carried Wofford's fame far and wide in many other ways. In short, we have entered Wofford and greatly helped to fly her standards proudly high where all may look on them.

For our freshman and sophomore years we elected the following officers:

FRESHMAN

C. W. DERRICK . . . . .	President
V. L. BRABHAM . . . . .	Vice-President
W. F. NETTLES, JR. . . . .	Secretary
G. B. HARPER . . . . .	Treasurer
H. S. KINGMAN . . . . .	Historian

SOPHOMORE

R. C. MAJOR . . . . .	President
F. H. NEUFFER . . . . .	Vice-President
W. F. NETTLES, JR. . . . .	Secretary
M. W. GOODYEAR . . . . .	Treasurer
T. C. HODGES . . . . .	Historian

Our Junior Class officers are as follows:

J. O. EDWARDS . . . . .	President
J. J. PARRELL . . . . .	Vice-President
L. S. WATERS . . . . .	Secretary
M. W. GOODYEAR . . . . .	Treasurer
R. E. CHEWNING, JR. . . . .	Historian

During these three years the tooth of time has not been idle, and many of our freshman comrades are with us no more. To them, wherever they may be, we say we miss them, and think often of them.

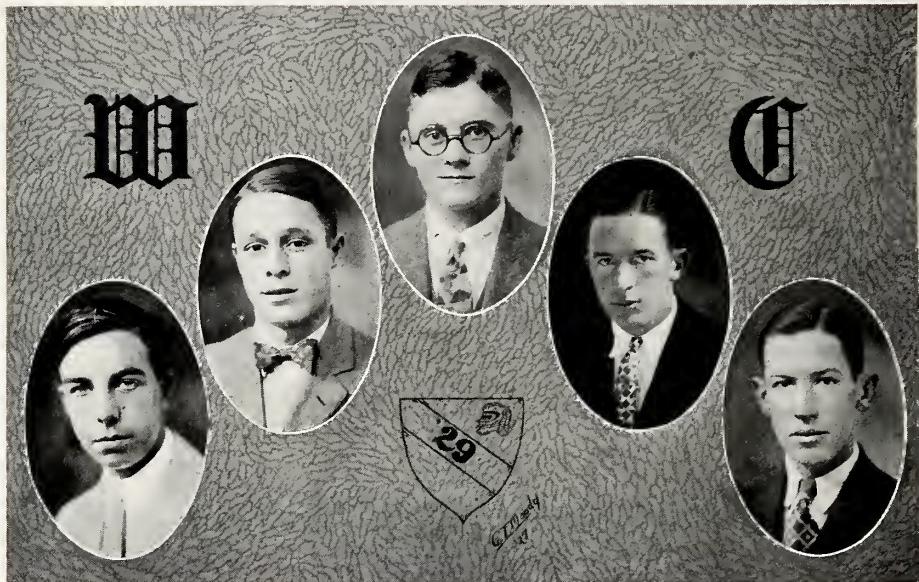

Even time shall never take from us our hallowed memories of our years here at Wofford where we rejoiced and laughed and sorrowed and wept. Long after we tread these campus paths no more our memories shall return to our Alma Mater and comrades with whom we shared our common joys.

R. E. CHEWNING, Historian.

Sophomore Class History

IATE one September afternoon in the year 1925, the halls of our Alma Mater resounded with the cry of "Freshmen!" This was none other than the greetings to the Class of '29, which thus far in its career has proved to be an outstanding class. As freshmen, we at once entered into the college activities with an admirable vim and vigor. Our freshman football team made an unusually fine record. The basketball and baseball teams were likewise a credit to our class. Our debating team won a unanimous decision over P. C. and Newberry. A large number of the Class of '29 helped the Wofford Glee Club to win the state championship. The following men were elected to lead us our freshman year:

R. C. KING . . . . .	President
J. M. PLAYER . . . . .	Vice-President
J. G. DEHIHNS . . . . .	Secretary
J. M. MCLEOD . . . . .	Treasurer
D. J. JONES . . . . .	Historian

In the fall of 1926 we assembled again, but many of our members were missing. However, this did not hinder us in raising even higher the standards set by us as a Freshman Class. In every phase of college activity the sophomores took a prominent part. On the varsity football team we were ably represented by Austin, Berry, DeHihns, Fleming, Jones, King, Lever, Player, and Sparnell. In basketball and baseball we did our share in holding high the name of Wofford. In track and tennis the sophomores played an important part. On the Glee Club we can boast of one-half of the entire membership.

In scholarship, literary and forensic activities we excell. We have ten men in the International Relations Club, four in the Pi Kappa Delta Honorary Forensic Fraternity, three in the Alpha Psi Omega Honorary Dramatic Fraternity, and twelve in Le Cercle Francais.

Thus it is evident that the Sophomore Class has a great deal of talent in it, and should continue to maintain this fine record. The officers of the Sophomore Class are:

D. A. CLYBURN . . . . .	President
J. M. PLAYER . . . . .	Vice-President
D. J. JONES . . . . .	Secretary
H. J. McCORMACK . . . . .	Treasurer
F. C. HODGES . . . . .	Historian

In view of our past achievements, may we in the years to come continue to strive to hold high the name and honor of our Alma Mater.

F. C. HODGES, Historian.

Freshman Class History

N the fifteenth of September, 1926, we arrived at Wofford, a somewhat smaller class than the one preceding us. After we had been warmly welcomed by our honorable friends, the sophomores, we at once began to perform the tasks that lay before us, with strong determination to succeed. Long had we looked forward to entering college, but it was hard to realize that we were actually in the presence of those things of which we had dreamed in high school. After the excitement of the first few days had worn off, most of us tasted somewhat of the proverbial homesickness; but having no other thought than to stick it out, we continued on, losing only a few of our number. As days passed into weeks, and weeks into months, we came to feel ourselves a part of Wofford. So diligently did we apply ourselves, that when the wreckage of the first term examinations was cleared up, it was found that the casualties were few and that as a whole our scholastic record was a little higher than that of the Freshman Class immediately before us—the present all-wise Sophomores!

Upon our return from Christmas holidays, the class elected its officers by the Australian Ballot System, adopted by the student body last year. The following class officers were chosen:

CARLISLE ROBERTS . . . . .	President
CONRAD A. PLYLER . . . . .	Vice-President
ARTHUR R. KING . . . . .	Secretary
ARTHUR M. DUPRE . . . . .	Treasurer
LEGRAND ROUSE . . . . .	Historian

The class has been well represented in college activities. A large squad of freshman athletes made a good showing in football, basketball, and baseball, and will strengthen the varsity teams next year. We also find that we have a few members of our class who are capable of performing in fields other than athletics. The inter-collegiate debaters were Conrad A. Plyler, Carlisle Roberts, Percy L. Edwards, and R.A. Powell.

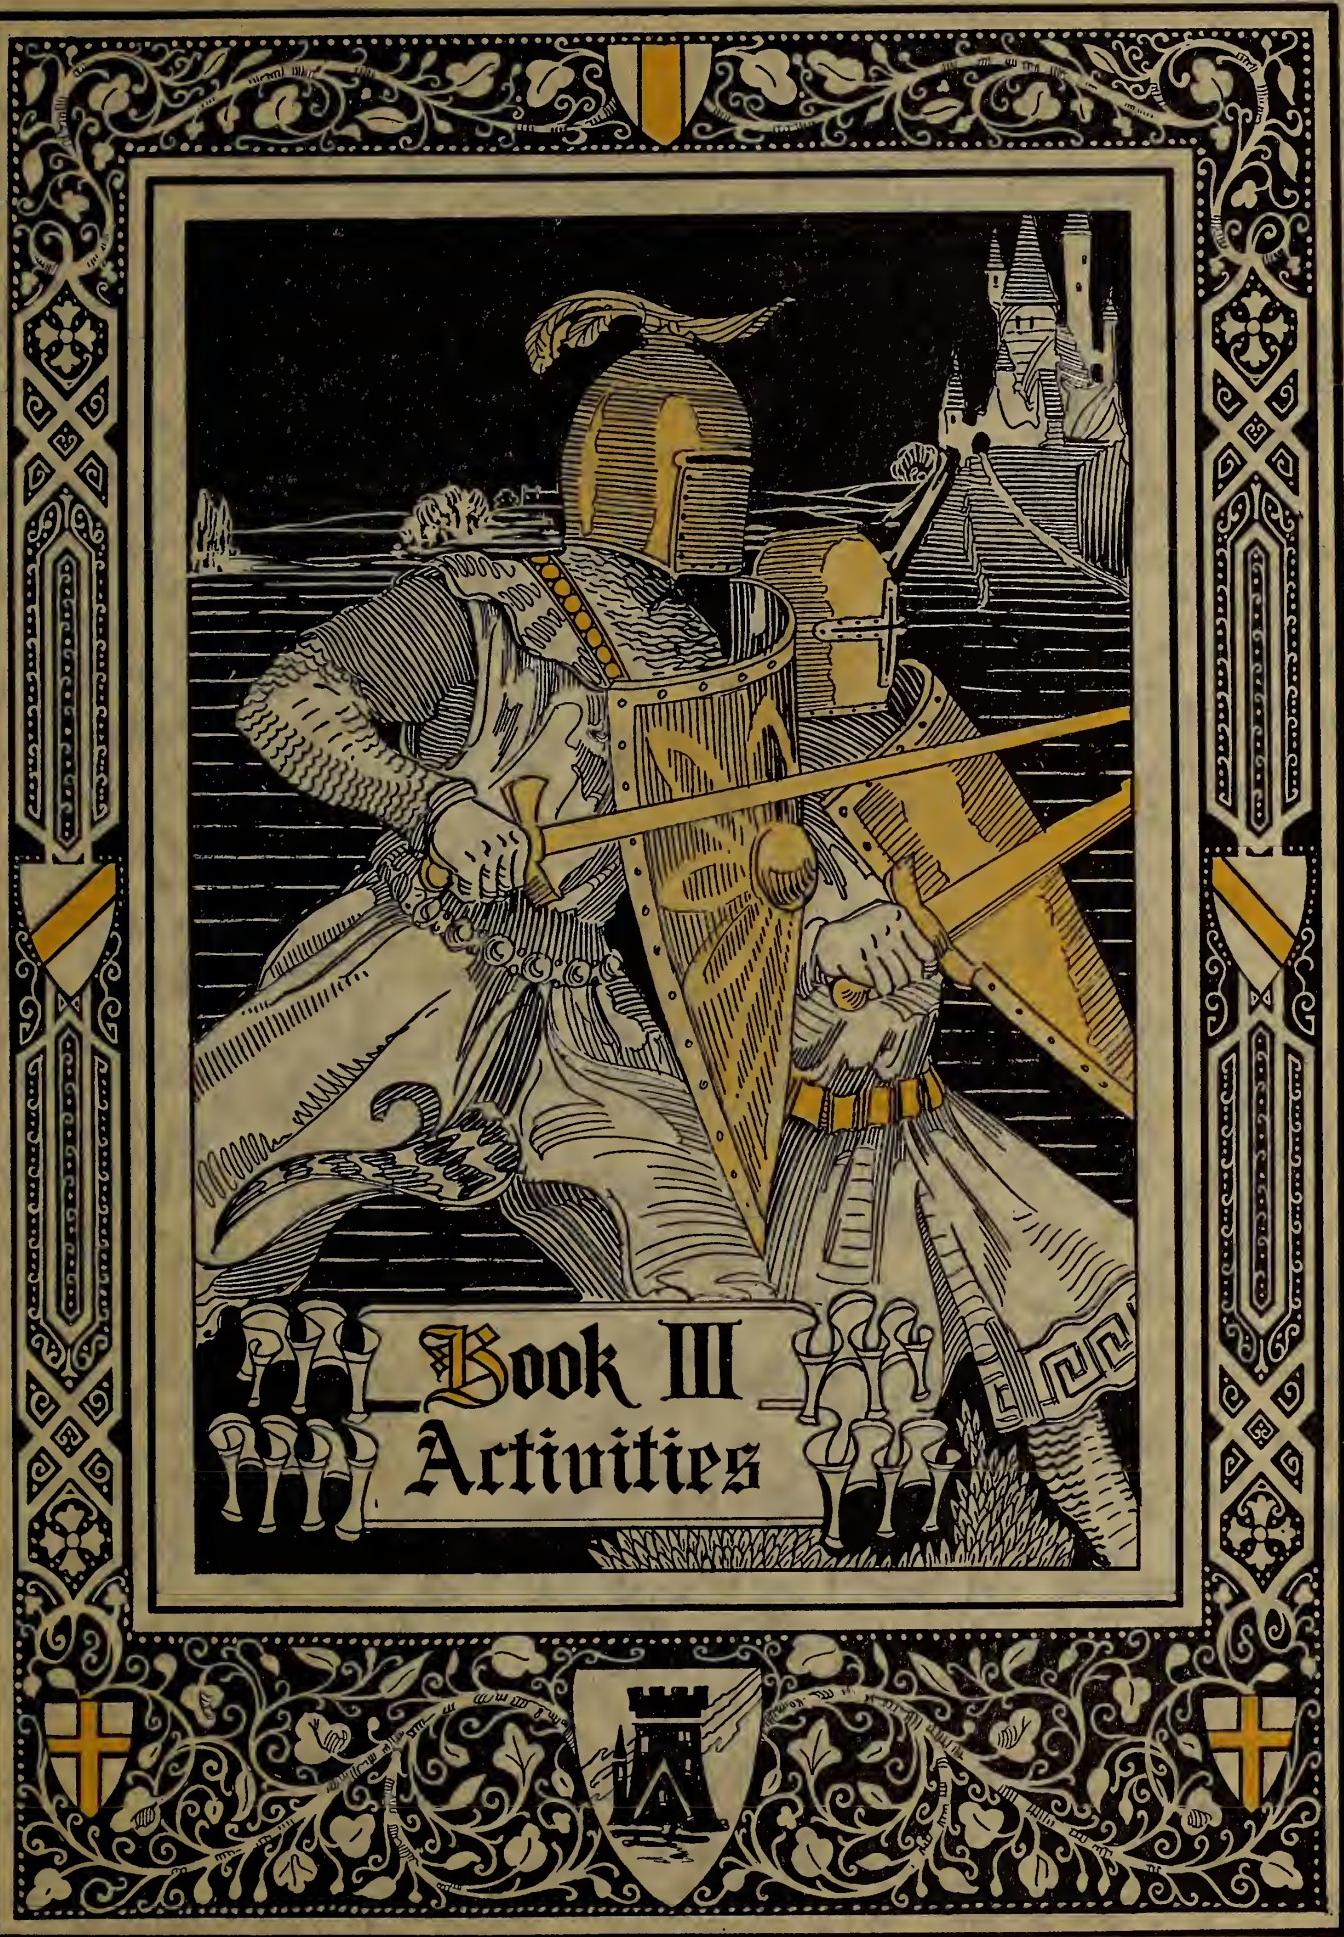

Our history has just begun, but we predict that ere three more years have passed we shall have attained accomplishments worthy of such a beginning. Already has the Class of '30 come to an understanding of what college life really means, and we are determined to be true to the spirit and ideals of dear old Wofford.

LEGRAND ROUSE, Historian.

Administration

Student Government

Under the new constitution, adopted in the spring of 1926, the executive and judicial functions of the Student Government are embodied in the Student Council, an ex-officio group of nine men made up of the president of the Student Body, the president of the Honor System, the vice-president, secretary, and treasurer of the Student Body, and the presidents of the Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman classes.

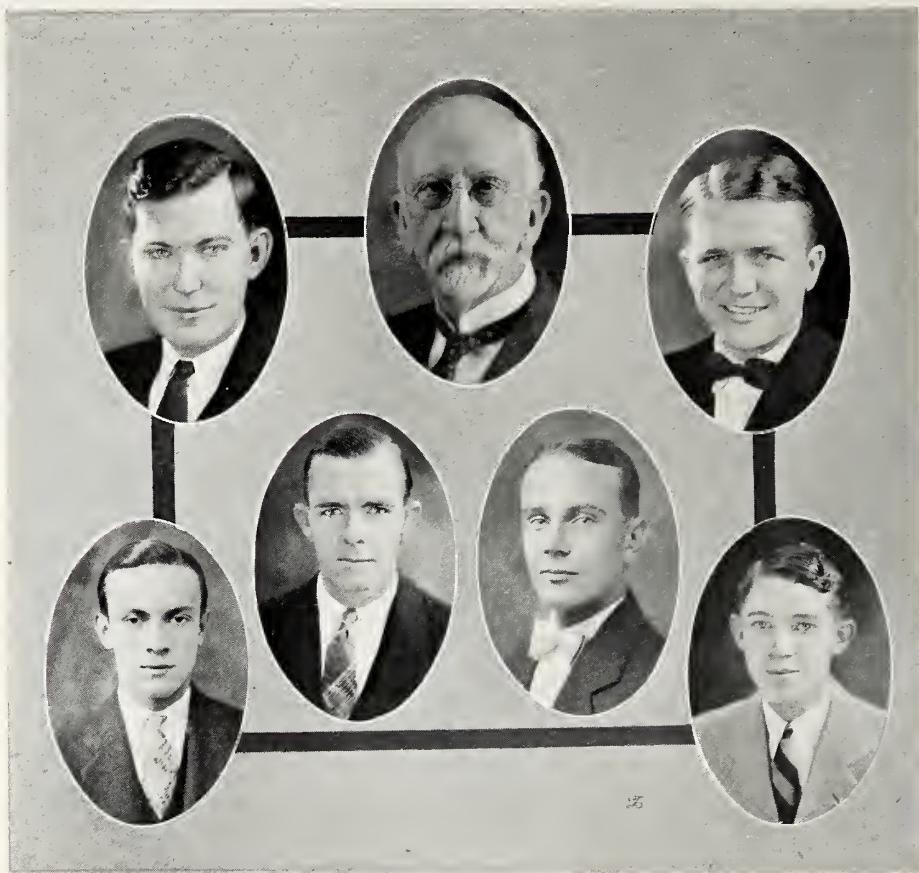

It is the duty of the Student Council to try all cases involving questions of honor, to call and preside over elections of class and Student Body officers, and to attend to that part of the business of the Student Body which cannot be transacted at the monthly mass meetings.

The Council meets weekly to consider questions of interest to the Student Body. The limited size and democratic method of election of this group contribute to its efficiency and representative character.

LYCEUM COMMITTEE

The Lyceum

The Lyceum at Wofford ranks among the best in the South. It furnishes the opportunity to the students of hearing men who loom large in the public eye as leaders of both thought and action. It has been of great service to the students in refining their taste and broadening their interests.

During the twenty-seven years of its existence the Lyceum has brought to Spartanburg Lyman Abbott, Woodrow Wilson, Henry Van Dyke, William Jennings Bryan, Lorado Taft, Champ Clark, Judge Ben Lindsay, Montraville M. Wood, Lew Sarett, and a number of other men of national reputation.

A student committee is elected annually by the student body to co-operate with the faculty manager, Professor J. A. Gamewell, in arranging the program and performances. The committee this year consisted of H. J. Bennett, C. M. Lee, D. W. Lawton, E. C. Morgan, C. W. Derrick, and R. C. Major.

The Season

On the first of September, aspirants for Wofford's football team began practice. The first workout found about forty men in uniform. This squad, under the direction of Coaches Major and Boatwright, worked hard to get into shape for the opening game, only two weeks away.

In spite of the small number of games won, the season's work was far from being a failure. Last spring, graduation robbed Wofford of almost her entire team, and necessitated the development of a new team this fall. The boys out for practice were green, but eager to learn; they paid strict attention to the words of the coach. Sophomores and Juniors largely composed the squad, a fact which augures well for next year's team.

On the eighteenth of September, Wofford met V. M. I. at Lexington, Virginia. Wofford's line held well, no large gains being made through it. The whole team played a good game. King, Wofford center and high-point man in recovering fumbles, had a great day. In the backfield, Alex Fleming, former star of Spartanburg High School, DeHihns, and Kirkley were the shining lights. The Terriers pled guilty to a scrappy fight from beginning to end.

The next game on the schedule was with Davidson, North Carolina champions. The contest was staged on Snyder field, and quite a number of fans came out to see the Terriers in their first home game. Wofford played an excellent game against the fast, hard-charging Wildcats. Billy Wright played an exceptional game, his punting being better than usual.

The third game of the season was played at Salisbury, N. C., the strong aggregation from Wake Forest. The first half did not find the Terriers holding so well, and the Demon Deacons did most of their scoring in that period. Wofford showed much more drive and power in the second half, and on the whole made a fairly good showing against Wake Forest's well seasoned machine, which was made up of such men as Riley, star end, Rackley, quarter, and Emerson and Persons, tackle and guard, respectively. Billy Wright and Jim Latimer were outstanding among the Wofford players.

The Terriers, accompanied by the student body, journeyed to Columbia on the fifteenth of October to play Carolina. Wofford was doped to lose by four touchdowns at least, but as sometimes happens, the dope bucket was upset. True, Carolina won the game, but the showing of the Terrier team was excellent throughout. Reserve strength was never more sadly needed. Had Wofford possessed more of that very necessary element, there might have been a different story. Wofford scored within the first three minutes of play, the touchdown coming as the result of a beautiful piece of strategy employed by Latimer. Fourth down, the ball on the five-yard line, and the Carolina team spreading for a pass, the Terrier's wily quarter called for a plunge through center.

Wofford's other score was chalked up when Fleming intercepted a Carolina pass and ran sixty yards for a touchdown. Both Latimer and DeHihns, the latter playing in his home town, ran the team in fine style.

The individual stars were easily Sparnell and Habel, ends, Lawton, left guard, and Wright, elusive, hard-hitting right halfback. It was Habel and Sparnell who, time after time, threw Wimberly, Bill Rogers, and P. Rogers for losses on attempted end runs. Wright was a triple threat man of the best variety throughout the game. He punted, passed and ran like a demon. Captain Lawton was in the thick of every play with a fine exhibition of football, always down on punts ready to tackle his man.

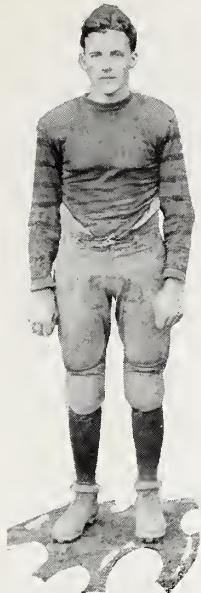

The Citadel came to Spartanburg to meet the Terriers, and a great battle it was. The first quarter saw one team and then the other, in rapid succession, carrying the ball. Citadel scored in the second quarter. Wofford was unable to push the ball across. There was no scoring in the second half, and the game ended 6 to 0 for the cadets. There were no individual stars, but the entire team played steadily and consistently.

"Wofford Wins Over Clemson 3 to 0," was the headline carried by the Journal on the afternoon of October 28, after Wofford's victory that morning at the county fair. The day was ideal for football, the morning dawning crisp and cold. A brightly shining sun failed to make the day too hot for a spirited battle. The work of Billy Wright, both defensively and offensively, was outstanding, as the two evenly matched groups fought fiercely through the fast passing moments. It was Wright who tackled Klugh and made him fumble when he was almost over the goal line. The Terrier ends flashed down brilliantly on every punt, threatening the Tiger backs into calling fair catches and throwing them for little or no returns when they attempted a return. Wright and Kirkley outpunted their kicking opponents, Martin and Eskew, with gains on practically every exchange. This was Wofford's second victory over Clemson in as many years.

The seventh game found the P. C. machine, with Jimmie Stamps as chief engineer, on Snyder Field. Coach Walter Johnson's grid warriors won easily, 25 to 0, over a Terrier team still crippled from the preceding game. The absence of several varsity men from the lineup robbed Wofford of her much needed reserve power. The retirement of Billy Wright, one of the state's best safety men and excellent insurance against opposing passes, was a blow to both offense and defense of the Terriers. Latimer, DeHihns and Fleming shone in the backfield, while Joe Edwards and Captain Lawton, both playing under tremendous handicaps, added their lot to the team's defense.

Erskine was the next team to appear on Snyder Field in opposition to the Terriers. Wofford emerged the victorious possessors of the large end of a 42 to 6 score. The Seceders, wholly outclassed, were able to score only in the last few minutes when Wofford had a second team on the field. Billy Wright ran wild in this game, with two touchdowns and six points added after touchdowns to his credit. Kirkley and Sarnell received forward passes in veteran style. The Terrier line was impregnable. The playing of King, Wofford center, was of a sterling character.

The ninth game of the season, and the last out-of-town contest, was staged on the nineteenth of November in a sea of mud. Wofford's defense held for the first quarter, but, outweighed by the Blue Devils, the Terriers soon weakened and Duke got away for some long gains. Duke showed offensive work of a type rarely seen in the South this year. Wright threw a great many passes, but the ends were unable to get under them. Lever and Lawton were the stars of the game. Coach DeHart of Duke said that Captain Lawton was the best guard he had seen this year.

The season closed with Newberry on the day after Thanksgiving. Shortly after the opening whistle, Newberry scored on a blocked punt, and rain began to fall in torrents. The rest of the game was played in deep water and mud. Wofford made seven first downs to Newberry's three, but breaks decided the issue. Fleming, the individual star in the backfield, and Dean were the only men able to make any appreciable gains. In the line, Joe Edwards, Captain Lawton, Lever, and B. Rushton did good work. Lever and B. Rushton, tackles, repeatedly threw the Newberry backs for losses. The game ended 13 to 6 for the Redskins. To all appearances, the rain robbed Wofford of a deserved victory.

This game marked the close of the football careers of eight block letter men at Wofford. They were Captain Lawton, Hook, and Hembree, guards; Jim Latimer, quarterback; Dean and Hutchinson, halfbacks; Red Habel and P. A. Rushton, ends.

The Season

BASKETBALL practice began on the twenty-ninth of November—but without the aid of a coach. Captain "Styx" Lindsay did the supervising of the team, and he proved to be a good leader. The team was composed of Captain Lindsay, Habel, Kennedy, Lockman, Shuler, Turner, Bob Dargan, all of whom were members of last year's championship team, and "Fat" Dargan, Kaigler, and Law, who were from last year's freshman team. The boys worked hard in order to be in shape to meet the difficult schedule which Manager Dargan had arranged. The team did not win all of its games, but it did add a number of victories to its crown; and, as a whole, the season was a success, especially considering the fact that we had no coach.

Soon after Christmas day, while we were at home enjoying turkey dinners, Captain "Styx" Lindsay carried his team to Atlanta for two games. The first game was with Fort McPherson, and Wofford won, 28-27. "Red" Habel was the star of the game; the Infantrymen were unable to stop him and he chalked up one basket after the other. The next night, the twenty-eighth of December, Wofford was again victorious; this time the Terriers defeated the Jewish Progressive Club. The score was 51-33.

The first home game was on the seventh of January, the strong Spartanburg Athletic Club being the opponent. The Terriers played hard and fast, but the Athletic Club was most too much for them. The game ended 33-29 in favor of the Spartans.

On the twelfth of January the team took a trip to Clemson, and there took the Tigers' measure, 35-17. The Terriers journeyed on to Athens the next day to play the University of Georgia. In this game Wofford came out on the small end of a 61-23 score.

The twenty-second of the same month found the Terriers at Clinton, S. C., where they were to play the Blue Stockings of P. C. "Red" Habel did some fine work in the stopping of the quintet of the Presbyterian College; the P. C. team was dumfounded by his fast dribbling and accurate shooting. Wofford won, 51-37.

The next game was at home. Wofford played a second game with the Spartanburg Athletic Club, and this time the Terriers completely baffled the Athletic Club, winning 44-34. During the first ten minutes of the game, Wofford rang up twenty points to the Club's two. The game was Wofford's; from the very beginning all of the players played splendidly, while "Red" Habel, "Styx" Lindsay, and "Freddie" Shuler were probably the outstanding stars.

On February the fourth, P. C. won from Wofford on the locals' floor. The Terriers never got going and the Presbyterians finally won the game, 47-35.

Newberry was the next victim. This game was a thriller from beginning to end, for it was never certain who would win until the final whistle blew. The Terriers, however, conquered the Indians, 35-25. The work of Kennedy, "Fat" Dargan, Habel, and Shuler was of the highest type. Newberry's stars were Captain Arn Butler, who did some fine guarding around the goals, and Wheeler, the lanky forward who shot baskets from all angles of the floor.

On the state trip the Terriers played three games, winning one and losing two. Newberry got revenge by winning from Wofford; and the Citadel was on the long end of a 52-36 score. The College of Charleston fell before the Terriers, the score being 33-31. Habel, the pivot man of the team, was out of the game with a sprained ankle; if he had been in, the score would have probably been more to Wofford's credit.

The last game of the season was with the Citadel. The mighty team from Charleston defeated the scrappy Terriers in this game, which marked the close of the schedule. Even though all games were not listed in the win column for Wofford, the season was not a failure. In fact, the players did well, and the student body appreciated their hard work to put out a good team.

Baseball Outlook

HIIS year we hope for big things. It has been two years since Wofford has won the championship in baseball, but the Terriers are going to try to win the state rag this year. As the annual goes to press, only one game has been played, and that with Davidson; in this game Wofford was victorious by the score of 4 to 2. Coach Frew has organized a good team and the team shows the evidence of real coaching. The team is composed of some veterans, along with a few new men. "Gus" Willis is captain of this year's nine, and "Firpo" Lawtom is manager.

Chi Beta Phi

Honorary Scientific

Theta Chapter

Chi Beta Phi is a national honorary scientific fraternity, having chapters in various institutions throughout the United States. Theta Chapter was installed at Wofford on May 23, 1925. The objects of the fraternity are to reward men for good scholarship in the Department of Science, to keep its members in touch with the advancements in this field, and to stimulate the spirit of research in scientific thought among undergraduates. Theta Chapter holds regular bi-weekly meetings, at which programs are rendered by the members. The program regularly consists of: (1) A report on current scientific topics; (2) A critical treatment of some important subject; and (3) A general discussion in which all members may take part. A high qualification for membership is rigidly maintained.

Sigma Upsilon

Honorary Literary Fraternity

Sigma Upsilon is a national organization consisting of thirty-five local literary clubs in colleges and universities throughout the country. Each club retains its local name as its chapter designation, but through the national organization receives the benefit of affiliation with the other chapters.

Members are chosen from the Junior and Senior classes, and are men who have shown an interest in and aptitude for literary production. The organization aims at banding together in a brotherhood the men whose common interests center around literature for mutual help and for the purpose of developing a greater interest in literature on the campus.

Blue Key

Blue Key is a national honorary fraternity which purposes to draw together, in each college or university where a chapter is located, the leaders of student life. The founders of the organization believe that such groups of leaders, unifying and relating the administration of all campus activities, are highly effective instruments for service.

THE TERRIER BOOSTERS, Wofford's chapter, claims its right to exist only on a basis of service to the College. The chapter, whose membership is limited to Juniors and Seniors not to exceed thirty-five in number, meets twice monthly at luncheon. Election to Blue Key is considered a signal honor.

International Relations Club

The International Relations Club, Wofford's only society to honor excellence in scholarship, was organized in 1922, the second club of its kind in the South. The high standards raised by the local organization make membership the most desirable of campus honors.

Maintenance of an average of 87½ throughout the college course is one qualification for membership in the club, which is limited to forty men. At its fortnightly meetings, subjects of international import are treated in well planned programs.

Here's a Job for Somebody!

WANTED

A man for hard work and rapid promotion—a man who can find things to be done without the help of a manager and three assistants.

A man who gets to work on time in the morning and does not imperil the lives of others in an attempt to be the first off the job at night.

A man who is neat in appearance and does not sulk for an hour's overtime in emergencies.

A man who listens carefully when he is spoken to and asks only enough questions to insure the accurate carrying out of instructions.

A man who moves quickly and makes as little noise as possible about it.

A man who looks you straight in the eye and tells the truth every time.

A man who does not pity himself for having to work.

A man who is cheerful, courteous to every one, and determined to "make good."

This man is wanted everywhere. Age or lack of experience does not count. There isn't any limit, except his own ambition, to the number or size of jobs he can get. He is wanted in every big business.

Link these characteristics to an humble belief in Christ as his Redeemer and there is nothing but success here and life forever.

Are you seeking this kind of place?

Willful, Winsome Woman

She's an angel in truth, a dream in fiction,
Oh, woman's the greatest of all contradictions!
She's afraid of a cockroach, she'll scream at a mouse,
But she'll tackle a man as big as a house.
She'll take him for better, she'll take him for worse;
She'll split his head open and then be his nurse:
And when he is well and can get out of bed,
She'll pick up a teapot and throw at his head.
She's faithful, deceitful, keen-sighted, and blind,
She's crafty, she's simple, she's cruel, she's kind.
She'll lift a man up, she'll cast a man down,
She'll call him her king, and she'll make him her clown.
You fancy she's this, but you find that she's that,
For she'll play like a kitten and she'll scratch like a cat.
In the evening she will, in the morning she won't,
And you are always expecting she does, but she don't.

Vile Plot Discovered

A plot to displace the portrait of Dr. Carlisle hanging on the front wall of the chapel by a Holeproof Hosiery advertisement has recently been discovered by F. S. James, campus heresy sleuth. Mr. James, in speaking of the discovery, recently pointed out evidence that indicated that the movement started "high up," and that unless a strong hand is taken in the matter the movement would succeed.

Mr. James says that one day when walking up Main Street he noticed that the Holeproof Hosiery advertisement formerly hanging on the side of the old stand of Mimnaugh's Shoe Store, at the corner of Main and Church Streets, was missing. "I always looked for the ad," he said sadly. "Someone has said that the feminine nude is the most beautiful form in the world, and since the picture I have mentioned is the nearest to that that I could find, I always took care to look at it several moments every time I passed it. After looking for the picture for several days, I overheard a group of students talking loudly under the space which it had occupied. Henry Bennett seemed to be the ring-leader, and when I saw this I perceived that something was going on with men high up in charge. Consequently, I snooped over to hear what was happening.

"I was startled beyond belief when I heard what was being said. Mr. Bennett was surrounded by a select group of students—Clyburn, Outler, Folk, Watkins, Lineberger, Lovin, "Mooney," Player, Maw. All were arguing vociferously, and there was some swearing, although I cannot say definitely that Folk and Player forgot themselves to such an extent as to become vile in their language. Suddenly Bennett shouted, so as to be heard above all the rest, 'No! the space will not be too large nor too small. This picture is just the size of Dr. Carlisle's, as you can see by the space it occupied. Furthermore, the aesthetic beauty of it certainly warrants the displacement. When the students see this hanging on the front wall there will be no trouble getting them to chapel, and they might even come in in less than nine minutes. I still insist on the move as an advisable one." After this argument there was no opposition in evidence, and the group moved off in the direction of an old storeroom, which presently I saw them enter surreptitiously.

"After the group had departed, I stole into the storeroom. There was the picture in all its beauty. I had never seen it so close before, and I feasted my eyes on it for some time, until I realized what a heinously heretical plot was brewing about it. Displace Dr. Carlisle's picture! Never!"

Mr. James has reported the plot to the college authorities, and a close lookout is being kept over the chapel to keep out anyone who might consummate the act of substituting the Holeproof Hosiery advertisement for the portrait of our dear Doctor Carlisle. There is also a sentinel placed at the flagpole, this to keep anyone from running up a set of red flannel underwear or other such symbol, as it is thought that the movement to raise a red flag might be coupled with that to move Dr. Carlisle's picture.

Develop "IT" Yourself!

NEW EASY
METHOD

Quick
Results

My Course Produces Practical Results!

MY MEN HAVE IT! They are Super Men, Muscular Marvels. Others must stand aside as these panther-muscled, he-men take all the honors.

"IT" AMONG COLLEGE STUDENTS is merely broad shoulders, muscular arms like those of the sinewy village blacksmith, and a clear complexion. ANYONE can develop along these lines! My exercises give all these benefits and advantages more than any other course offered.

Jay Bird Sifly took my exercises six weeks and is now able to get a date at Converse. There are other instances just as marvelous. I guarantee that I can make a NEW MAN of YOU, and in only NINETY DAYS!

I develop my men by a MARVELOUS NEW METHOD. No apparatus. No harmful drugs or medicines. Only your natural body, now clumsy beef—in thirty days, PANTHER MUSCLES!

By my marvelous methods I have developed many internationally known strong men. Hap Haynes, Tatum Fletcher, Happy Gay, Doc Pryor, Curly Drake, and many others. They have proven that you needn't be a weakling—you needn't be jealous of strong men—for you needn't have physical superiors. You are no different from thousands of others who have gone the pace, dissipated their energy, and paid the price. My science of health and strength will do WONDERS FOR YOU.

Above all else, I stress PERSONAL ATTENTION in my course. It is like none other. One student has written, "Your course is so different—it's like leaving kindergarten and going to college—and I know whereof I speak, because I've tried at least three others that are prominently advertised. You make these fellows look as though they didn't know what a P. T. Course really ought to be."

Write for my NEW, BIG, ILLUSTRATED BOOK, sent FREE on request. Read the story of M. A. C. Lickerhead, from invalid to Physical Marvel and Athlete in thirty days, and many others. Is your body worth two cents? If so, send NOW for your copy of this wonderful book, containing photographs of myself and students I have developed into HE-MEN, with PANTHER MUSCLES. Do it NOW—you may forget.

Above all, DON'T DELAY! You can't afford to miss this opportunity of a life-time, this GOLDEN DOOR TO POPULARITY! Clip the coupon. Slip it in the mail. You will be obligated in NO WAY.

Our Anarchist

It was our firm belief that all Bolsheviks, Anarchists, and I. W. W.s were big, burly men with shaggy hair and unkempt whiskers. Therefore, Kind Reader, imagine our consternation when we discovered one in our midst, one who had become so converted to the doctrines of the Reds as to be rabid. A man whom we had all known and who some of us loved as a brother for nearly four long years. Whether he had been of this disposition since we started our college course, or whether this is a late development, we are unable to say. However, this does not alter the case as it now stands.

I blush to mention his name, but since it is obliged to be discovered sooner or later, I will call him by name: Jerome Rivers McCall, the anarchist from Florence. Only last week he was heard to say, "Whatever it is, I'm agin it."

Just to show how this agent of destruction goes about his work, I will tell some of his doctrine. I first noticed that Rivers was acting queerly when the cold weather started descending on us the past winter. For the sake of the readers who are not acquainted with the standards and traditions of the dear old institution, I must explain that one of the oldest and most cherished traditions of the school is never to have any heat in the chapel. This is done for several reasons: first, the student has to move around quite quickly to keep his blood from becoming solid in his veins, and this takes the place of a gymnasium, for the student gets his exercise right in the chapel; secondly, the shivering of the singers gives the much desired tremolo effect; and last, the students pay much more attention to the service if they are in a stage of semi-consciousness from cold.

Would you believe that a loyal son of Wofford, a member of the Class of 1927, and a citizen of South Carolina, could be guilty of so heinous a crime as to express openly and in the hearing of members of the lower classes, a disapproval of such a noble tradition? Unthinkable, Gentlemen, yet true!

Naturally, such unloyalty cannot pass unpunished, and Rivers was promptly ostracized by the better class of students. Being possessed of a morbid curiosity, I wanted to follow the thing to its source. The "Duke," as Rivers has come to be termed by some of his satellites, in the campus vernacular "laid low." We next hear of his trying to inject his poisonous ideas into the student body later this spring. He decided that the Wofford boys did not want the old style graduation exercises, with four or five nice speeches three-quarters of an hour long apiece, but that he had rather have the faculty give a dance and hand out diplomas at the grand march, and with this in view he prepared a petition to submit to the faculty. Of course he could not get the students to sign any such a petition, because all the world knows that a Wofford man had rather hear speeches than go to a stuffy old dance.

I write this article to show the people of the state who are interested in college youths how much the propaganda of the anarchist is effecting our schools.

(DR. REMBERT)

John Sloan, when asked to explain auto-intoxication, said, "I'm not very sure, Doctor, but I think that's riding in Hugh Folk's Snow-bird white Ford until you get drunk."

Horace Graverly still maintains that a baby comes into the world fully able to put on its overcoat in case it gets cold.

Dr. Rembert, in addressing the class on a certain occasion, said, "Vox populi, vox Dei." Noticing a vacant look on several faces, he asked, "What is that, Mr. Taylor?" The classroom was steeped in silence. Each member of the class could see that Taylor was struggling with a gigantic problem. After about five minutes of concentrated thought, his face lighted up with the thought that he had at last gained the solution. Clearing his throat, he answered in a clear, crisp voice, "Doctor, that's Latin."
